Planning Commission Roundtables on Channel 16

Every Thursday at 6:30 p.m., Fairfax County Cable Channel 16 presents “The Planning Commission Roundtable,” a 30-minute program for citizens, landowners, civic associations and developers who wish to gain a better understanding of the Fairfax County Planning Commission’s role in land use planning and development in the county. Discussion topics change monthly and upcoming programs will cover the topics of residential density criteria (May) and revitalization efforts (June). Previous programs covered general information on the Planning Commission and the land use process in Fairfax County, as well as the Capital Improvement Program. This program is an excellent resource for Fairfax County residents who wish to gain a better understanding of the county’s land use process, the Planning Commission’s role and how to voice support for, or concerns with, an application for development in and around the community.

For more information on program listings, check the local newspapers, cable guide or cable information channel, or visit www.fairfaxcounty.gov/dtcs/channel16/homepage.htm. To order copies of past programs, contact the Fairfax County Communications Production Division at 703-324-5930, TTY 703-222-8653. Each 30-minute program can be purchased for a $15 fee or a reduced fee of $10 if a tape is provided.

Executive Director of Civil Service Commission Appointed

The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors appointed Karen L. Woodward as executive director of the Fairfax County Civil Service Commission, effective May 31. She succeeds John Robinson, who retired on Dec. 27, 2002.

As executive director of the Civil Service Commission, Woodward will be responsible for preparing the commission’s annual budget; representing them at public meetings; and supervising staff responsible for preparing agendas, minutes, correspondence and other items resulting from the actions of the commission. The Civil Service Commission hears the grievances of Fairfax County employees challenging personnel actions; therefore, knowledge and experience in areas of personnel administration such as grievance resolution, classification, recruitment and affirmative action are requirements for this position.

Woodward earned both a Bachelor of Arts and a Juris Doctor from the University of Virginia, Charlottesville. Prior to this appointment, Woodward held positions in both the public and private sectors. She practiced corporate law from 1979 to 1981 with Day Berry & Howard Law Firm and from 1981-1983 with Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation (Freddie Mac). She had a private practice from 1983-1999 that included corporate law, and employment and human resources law. Concurrently, from 1984 to 1996, Woodward was an assistant professor of business administration at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg.

From 1999 to the present, Woodward has been employed by the Washington, D.C. Metropolitan Police Department. She has been responsible for disciplinary action appeals; grievances and adverse actions for civilian and sworn employees; performance appraisal appeals; and the development and implementation of the agency policy, procedures and program in the areas of Equal Employment Opportunity and workers compensation.

Woodward currently resides in Spotsylvania, Va. She will receive an annual salary of $78,000.

Fairfax County Improves Vendor Registration Process

Effective July 1, the Fairfax County Department of Purchasing and Supply Management will begin using eVA to notify vendors of Fairfax County Government and Fairfax County Public Schools sales opportunities.

DPSM will use eVA to prepare bidders lists for formal solicitations, distribute notices of solicitations and publish invitations for bids and requests for proposals.

eVA is Virginia’s electronic procurement portal (www.eva.state.va.us/) that offers one-stop on-line registration that places vendors on the bidders list of over 200 state and local government agencies. eVA features an electronic shopping mall where you can create electronic catalogs listing all of the goods or services that you sell.

The county is no longer accepting applications to be included on the Fairfax County Procurement Opportunities List, and on June 30 will suspend use of the current vendor database for the purpose of sending notices of solicitations to vendors. If vendors want to be on bidders lists for future Fairfax County Government and Schools procurements and receive notices of county procurements, they must register with eVA. To register with eVA, visit <http://evaregishelp.dgs.state.va.us/>.

For more information about eVA or the county procurement process, call 703-324-4047, TTY 711 (Virginia Relay Center).

License Your Dog: It's the Law

Many Fairfax County residents do not know that all dogs over 4 months old must be licensed annually, vaccinated against rabies and must have the license tag securely attached to a collar and worn whenever the dog is off the owner's property. Cats over 4 months old must be inoculated against rabies, but they are not required to be licensed. Failure to license your dog can result in a potential fine of up to $250 for non-licensure.

Dog licenses are sold only upon presentation of a certificate showing that the dog has been inoculated against rabies by a licensed veterinarian. Dog licenses cost $5 per year for spayed/neutered animals and $10 for fertile animals. To obtain the $5 license, certification must be provided that the animal has been spayed or neutered by a veterinarian or is infertile. License tags are issued free of charge to the owners of dogs trained and serving as guide dogs for people with visual impairments, hearing dogs for people with hearing impairments or service dogs for people with mobility impairments.

In addition to being required, properly licensing your dog will help ensure a speedy return home if your pet gets lost, because Animal Control officers will be able track the animal's home through the license number. Dog license tags may be purchased by mail or in person.

By mail: Send a completed copy of the dog license application (found online at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/dta/pdf_files/pddogapp.pdf or available at the Department of Tax Administration), a check payable to Fairfax County, a current certificate of rabies vaccination and proof of spaying or neutering, if applicable, to Fairfax County, Department of Tax Administration, 12000 Government Center Pkwy., Suite 223, Fairfax, VA 22035.

In person: Bring a completed copy of the dog license application, a check payable to Fairfax County, a current certificate of rabies vaccination and proof of spaying or neutering, if applicable, to one of the following locations: The Department of Tax Administration, 12000 Government Center Pkwy., Suite 223, Fairfax, between 8 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. weekdays (8 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. Thursdays), or the Animal Shelter, 4500 West Ox Rd., Fairfax, between 8 a.m. and 6 p.m. Tuesday through Friday or Saturday between 8 a.m. and 5 p.m.

County residents who have bought tags in previous years will automatically receive application forms in the mail in October. Licenses must be purchased by Jan. 31.

The Fairfax County Animal Shelter also encourages pet owners to put a personal ID tag, rabies tag, license tag (required by law for all dogs over 4 months old), microchip, tattoo or any device on their pet to better help shelters identify and return lost pets. If your pet has a tag with your address and name on it, they will most likely be given a ride home instead of being sent to a shelter.

For questions regarding dog license fees, call the Department of Tax Administration at 703-222-8234, TTY 703-222-7594 or the Animal Shelter at 703-830-3310, TTY 711 (Virginia Relay Center). Additional information is available at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/ps/ac.

Emergency Guide Now Available in Six Languages

"Your Guide to Emergency Preparedness" is now available on the county Web site in Spanish, Korean, Vietnamese, Farsi and Arabic as well as English. This popular guide offers detailed information on how you and your family can prepare for many kinds of emergency events. It includes tips on developing your family emergency plan, creating an emergency preparedness kit for your home and car, making financial preparations, preparing for an extended loss of power and much more.

For more information or to request this guide in an alternate format, contact Kathy Simmons in the Office of Public Affairs at 703-324-3187, TTY 324-2935.

Public Input Sought Into Future of Solid Waste

The Fairfax County Solid Waste Management Program is in the process of developing a Solid Waste Management Plan. The goal of the plan is to determine the future of solid waste (rubbish and recyclables) management for the next 20 years in Fairfax County. Through the planning process, we hope to:

- Evaluate waste disposal capacity
- Make a positive difference on the environment

- Make long term projections
- Increase efficiency in the waste management system

Your input is needed to make the planning process a success. The initial phase of the planning process will be a series of public meetings held through November at locations throughout Fairfax County. Staff is available to make presentations to individual associations and groups. If you are interested in having a presentation in your community, please contact

Linda Boone at 703-324-5045, TTY 1-800-828-1120, or send an e-mail to linda.boone@fairfaxcounty.gov.

General information about the SWMP and community meetings is available on the county Web site at www.fairfaxcounty.gov/dpwes. Surveys also will be periodically posted on the Web site to gather citizens' feedback about strategic planning questions.

Fairfax County Launches Citizen Corps Web Site

Emergency managers are frequently asked how citizens can help during disasters. In Fairfax County, the answer to that question is to sign up to volunteer for one of the many opportunities available through the Fairfax County Citizen Corps program.

Fairfax County Citizen Corps offers opportunities for citizens to volunteer for four programs designed to help communities prepare for and respond to emergency events. Volunteers in Police Service, the Medical Reserve Corps, Community Emergency Response Teams and Neighborhood Watch programs bring together local leaders, citizen volunteers and first responders to build a stronger community.

In January 2003, the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors approved a request for Fairfax County government to partner with citizens and community organizations to initiate a Fairfax County Citizen Corps program and establish a local Citizen Corps Council as an advisory committee. Citizen Corps is a national program designed to add volunteer capacity to public safety and emergency response organizations, as well as to engage citizens in the welfare of their local community. According to Jane Kornblut, executive director of Volunteer Fairfax, “the Fairfax County Citizen Corps will harness the power of individual volunteers to make Fairfax County safer, stronger and better prepared to respond to threats of terrorism, crime, public health issues and disasters of all kinds.”

Fairfax County recently launched a new Web site at www.fairfaxcountycitizencorps.org where citizens can register to volunteer for four Citizen Corps programs or with an affiliate volunteer organization. The site provides a summary of each program as well as job descriptions for each available volunteer position. Visitors can also read a safety tip and current news articles or follow links to sites with related information. Interested volunteers without access to a computer can call Volunteer Fairfax at 703-246-3460, TTY 711 (Virginia Relay Center) to register for one of the Citizen Corps programs.

The Citizen Corps Web site is managed by Volunteer Fairfax, a private nonprofit organization whose mission is to mobilize people and resources to meet regional community needs. Additionally, under the Fairfax County Emergency Operation Plan, Volunteer Fairfax is responsible for recruiting, registering and helping to mobilize volunteer resources during emergency events.

Economic Development Leader Available to Speak

Fairfax County’s growth in the last 20 years has been extraordinary. Once a dairy center and then a sleepy bedroom community of Washington, D.C., Fairfax County is now one of the leading technology regions in the world, our school system is nationally ranked and we are the economic engine of Northern Virginia and the commonwealth of Virginia. As the county’s quality of life has risen, so have issues concerning development.

Dr. Gerald Gordon, president and CEO of the Fairfax County Economic Development Authority, is available to discuss local economic development issues with community associations and talk about why economic development is necessary now to maintain the county’s high quality of life.

The Fairfax County Economic Development Authority is charged with recruiting new businesses to Fairfax County as well as assisting existing businesses with expansion plans. Under Gordon’s leadership of the past 19 years, the FCEDA has worked with thousands of technology firms interested in locating in Fairfax County, opened three overseas offices to market the county as a business location and has launched several national advertising campaigns.

If you are interested in having Gordon speak to your group about economic development in Fairfax County, contact Kathy Lofgren at 703-790-0600, TTY 711 (Virginia Relay Center), or send an e-mail to klofgren@fceda.org.

4th Annual Tim Harmon 5K Walk/Run is Set for June 21

Building on the success of the past three years, the 4th Annual Tim Harmon 5K is scheduled for Saturday, June 21, at 8:30 a.m. at the Fairfax County Government Center. Whether you are a serious runner or want to take your family on a morning walk for a good cause, you will enjoy the Tim Harmon 5K. The morning will feature awards to the top three finishers overall and to the top three finishers in numerous age categories. There will be food, T-shirts and live classic rock music performed by the Sock Monkeys. Drawings for numerous prizes will be held. In addition to a runners/walkers division, there will be divisions for county employees and baby joggers. The 5K is sponsored by the Fairfax-Falls Church Community Services Board - Alcohol and Drug Services and many other organizations and businesses. Proceeds will go to the Hepatitis Foundation, Friends of Sunrise, Friends of Crossroads and the American Liver

Foundation, Washington D.C. Metro Chapter. Tim Harmon was the Director of the CSB Alcohol and Drug Services residential program until he lost his fight with Hepatitis C in 1999. For more information or a registration form, call 703-318-7261, TTY 703-538-5292, or e-mail cookpegtom@cs.com. You can also register online at www.racepacket.com.
